LIQUOR LAW VIOLATORS CATCHING IT HEAVY

Circuit Court Criminal Docket Is Fast Being Cleaned Up—
Some of the Cases

When the case of Eva Bicknell, charged with violating the liquor laws, was called in Madison circuit court early this week Jack Merritt, a material witness in the case, did not answer. He came into court Wednesday, however, and told Judge Shackelford that the Bicknell woman had given him $25 to get out of town, so as not to testify against her. Merritt said he went to Knoxville, but his money ran out there and he decided to come on back home. Judge Shackelford fined Merritt $20 for contempt of court and officials say that there are now two charges, in store for Mrs. Bicknell, for it is a serious offense to tamper with witnesses. Her trial on the liquor law violation case is set for trial on Feb. 23d.

Commonwealth's Attorney V. J. Baxter, working in his first term of court here, is "taking the boys over the jumps" and cleaning up the criminal docket in rapid shape. William Ritter, failed to answer to his name when called to face a charge of carrying concealed deadly weapon, so his $100 bond was declared forfeit, and he was tried in his absence. He was then sentenced to serve 40 days in jail and pay a fine of $100.

The bond of Alonzo Harris, amounting to $500, was also forfeited upon his failure to appear to answer to his name.

James Parks, colored, charged with grand larceny, had his bond of $500 forfeited.

Chenault Benton, colored, who is wanted for trial in connection with the theft of auto tires, was caught at Winchester and is in jail there. He will be brought here for trial. The charge against Babe Nelson for the same offense, was filed away.

H. C. Eversole failed to appear to answer to the charge of having given a "cold check" to Rice & Arnold. His $200 bond was then declared forfeited and he was sentenced in his absence to pay $100 fine and spend 30 days in prison.

Pat Crews, charged with having liquor for the purpose of sale, was given a fine of $200 and 60 days in jail. On a similar charge A. B. Azbill was acquitted. James Kiddwell, with a similar charge against him, failed to appear on his $200 was declared forfeited and he was tried and given a 12-day sentence with a fine of $200 added thereto. Galt, charged on a charge of gaming was given a fine of $20 and costs. Cecil Thompson was fined $50 and given 10 days for shooting on the highway. Tried on a charge of carrying concealed a deadly weapon, the jury failed to agree. The jury also failed to agree when tried Tom Roberts on a charge of having liquor for purposes of sale. The liquor charge against Birdie Gentry will be called again Monday.

Link Lakes, of Berea, who was fined some $75 in court at Berea growing out of a difficulty there, had an appeal pending before the circuit court, but he withdrew it. Curt Terrill was given 60 days in jail and fined $300 upon conviction of having had liquor for purpose of sale.

Perhaps the first plea of guilty in a liquor selling case in a long time was that of Otis Ward who admitted his guilt. He is from the Kirksville section. He got the minimum of $50 fine and 10 days in jail. A jury found Jones and Frank Simpson not guilty on a liquor sale charge. But another jury gave Jeff Thurman $50 and 30 days in jail on a similar charge.

The grand jury refused to indict Jesse Cain on a charge of cutting Norman Winkler. Testimony of witnesses who saw the affair is said to have convinced the grand jury that Cain was not the aggressor and not at fault.

That it's still a costly adventure to go chicken stealing was discovered by Dillard and Dewey Todd, colored. Their sentence was four years in the penitentiary.

James Wilson, of the Berea section, was given a fine of $75 and costs for pointing a deadly weapon at Mrs. Tom Harris.

Fans Meet Tonight

Baseball fans who want to see Richmond have a team in the Blue Grass league are requested to meet at the Richmond Motor Company tonight at 7:30 o'clock. A report must be made to the meeting of representatives from the towns which want representation in the league at Lexington Friday night. Somehow, many of the dyed-in-the-wool fans here are lukewarm about the matter, it seems; at least, they have been keeping awfully quiet about it.

HARD SUBSTANCE CHOKES LITTLE GIRL

Some hard foreign substance became lodged in the esophagus of little Edith Woods, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Wagers, while she was playing at their home at Waco Sunday and for a time it was feared the child would choke to death. She was hurried to a physician and obtained relief. Dr. O. F. Hume afterward made an X-ray examination at his office here, and found the foreign substance lodged at a point near the breast bone. Being unable to reach it here, it was decided to send the little girl to a hospital at Louisville, so her parents drove thru with her for treatment there Wednesday.

MISSING LANCASTER GIRL HEIR TO MONEY

Police at Louisville were asked to search for Miss Ivy Pendleton, a young woman whose mother died recently at Lancaster, to inform her she has inherited an estate and probably will suffer considerable loss unless she is in Lancaster shortly for the probating of her mother's will, said Wednesday's Times. When last heard of, according to the report, Miss Pendleton was employed in Louisville as a maid. That was in December 1921.

I. G. Davidson, cashier of the Citizens National Bank of Lancaster, wrote Arch B. Davis, vice president of the Citizens Union National Bank at Louisville, asking that the matter of locating the girl be taken up with the police.

House Passes New Dog Law

Frankfort, Feb. 9.—Kentucky's House of Representatives passed on Wednesday Representative J. B. Wicker's bill to allow one dog free to each family, by a vote of 57 to 28. Governor Morrow declared the present license law is harassing, useless and an unnecessary one that produces practically no revenue, and that it should be repealed. Maintaining the best humor, he spent about twenty minutes telling the Representatives to back home and put "Old Ring" on the head when he ran out to meet them and say "Ring, old fellow, I thought about you when I was up to Frankfort."

HEARD ABOUT TOWN

WELLS CASE TRIALS ON FEBRUARY 27

Confusion Caused In Date—
Keith's Bond Is Lowered
From $15,000 To $4,000

The trials of Lawrence Percy and Tom Keith on charge of abducting and assaulting Peter W. Wells, will be tried on the 24th day of the present term of circuit court and not the 24th day of February. The 24th day of the term falls on Monday, February 27th, and the trials will begin on that day, and not February 24th as was erroneously stated yesterday.

Two indictments were returned by the grand jury against Percy, Keith and Monk Wilson. One charges confederating and banding together to intimidate and injure, resulting in injury and the other charges robbery.

When the indictments were returned to court, Judge Shackelford lowered the bail of Keith from $15,000 to $4,000. As will be recalled, Keith confessed his connection with the near-tragedy. Wilson is still a fugitive. It is expected that Percy will soon be brought to the local jail from Winchester where he has been incarcerated since his examining trial, having been unable to give the $30,000 bond required of him.

The first batch of indictments returned by the grand jury exclusive of the Percy case indictments, numbered 17. Sheriff Elmer Deatherage got busy and had many of those indicted in custody at once. The indictments include six for carrying concealed deadly weapons; nine for violating the prohibition law; one for transporting liquor, and one for grand larceny.

BEREA BASKETEERS PLAY HERE FRIDAY

When Transylvania called her game with Eastern off for Saturday night, Coach Hembree got busy and booked a game with the Berea town team for Friday night. The Berea town team has four of the Berea College varsity men on its lineup that is to start against Eastern. These boys have shown themselves to be real players on the Berea College team. Eastern is going out to win all the rest of her games. Coach Hembree's men have a new comber by the name of Williams in their ranks who looks to be of good material. He played guard just before the last game. Clark was elected captain of the Eastern five when Combs quit the team. The former captain's injuries are reported to be doing nicely. Clark has been playing steadily ball all season for Eastern in all of her games so far. He knows basketball and is a good leader.

Coach Hembree has announced his schedule for the remainder of the season. He has games with several strong teams, including Cumberland, Union, Transylvania, Sue Bennett, and Western. The schedule is as follows: Berea at Richmond, Feb. 10; Kentucky Wesleyan at Winchester, Feb. 13; Sue Bennett at London, Feb. 18; Union College at Richmond, Feb. 21; Western Normal at Bowling Green, Feb. 23; Bowling Green Business University at Bowling Green, Feb. 24; Transylvania at Lexington, Feb. 28; Cumberland at Williamsburg, March 4, and Transylvania at Richmond, March 11. Several other games may be added to this list. This is indeed a hard schedule and Eastern will have to fight hard to win all the games.

Miss Hatton Recovering
Miss Nora Hatton, of the eastern part of the city, who has been in a Lexington hospital the past three weeks, having submitted to an operation for the removal of her tonsils and adenoids and also had a serious operation on her eye with the hope of having her sight restored, is at home with her parents. Her eye is greatly improved, but the Philadelphia oculist, who did the work, advises another operation in a few weeks, or as soon as her strength will permit. Her friends here are quite anxious as to the outcome and hope for her a complete recovery.

ANTI-RACING BILL KILLED IN SENATE

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 9.—Senator John A. Lee's anti-racing bill was killed in the Senate Wednesday afternoon when, by a vote of 26 to 19, that body refused first reading to the measure, which had been adversely reported by the committee on judiciary. Four members signed the adverse report, the other members voting with nine other senators to advance the bill to first reading.

That the opponents of racing did not muster as much strength as they had, was indicated in the explanation during the voting, as Senator Caywood said that while he would vote to give the measure first reading, it was not to be taken as an indication as to how he would vote on question of passage. The detailed vote was as follows:

For first reading—Bell, Caywood, Daugherty, Garner, Green, Hall, Harris, Lee, Marshall, Rasi, —10.

Against first reading—Baker, Branstetter, Bright, Black, Davis, Demunburn, Kelly, Kline, Metzger, Monroe, Moss, Perry, Points, Reynolds, Ryans, Simmons, Stoll, Tabor, Wallace, Watts, Welch, White, Whitaker—26.

WANTS TOMB OF FIRST GOVERNOR HONORED

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 8.—On the border of Lincoln county, just over the line from Shelby County, lie the remains of Isaac Shelby, the first and fourth governor of Kentucky. His body lies in a neglected grave in the old Shelby burial ground at Arcadia, ancestral estate of the Shelys, from which place in 1792 he rode horseback to Lexington take the oath of office after Kentucky had split off from Virginia and become a state. A bill was placed before the General Assembly by Representative Lester J. Jeter, of Lincoln county, would remedy the neglect of the grave of Kentucky's first governor. The Lincoln representative asks the state to appropriate $5,000 for a proper marker for the grave of Gov. Shelby and to keep it in a state fitting to the history of Kentucky and its famous men.

History records much of the works of Isaac Shelby as a pioneer of Kentucky. He had much to do with the settlement of Lincoln county, one of the first three counties formed in Kentucky, and with the pioneer work of the state. He was elected governor in 1792 and served from June 2 in that year until June 7, 1796. He was elected again in 1812 and served from June 1 of that year to June 1, 1816.

In letters to Representative Jeter and to Senator Joseph Haselton, D. B. Pendergrass, of Shelby County, who has introduced himself in the matter, recites that at the 1920 session of the Assembly a bill was introduced but was killed in a mixup in the House of Representatives. He says that he has talked to members of the Shelby family and that they are anxious that the state mark the grave.

The spot where the former governor lies is said to be almost barren. Mr. Pendergrass promises to give all necessary land for drives into the burial ground without expense to the state if the monument is erected.

CHARGES DR. ZINKE MADE HIM CAPTIVE

Former Local Physician Seems To Be In Peculiar Mix-up
In Cincinnati

Many here, where Dr. Zinke formerly lived will be interested in the following from the Cincinnati Times-Star:

As the result of an unusual and harrowing experience he said he had Sunday night, Clarence Doppler, 2215 Harrison avenue, swore to warrants Monday for the arrest of Dr. Stanley Zinke, 42 Remaine Building, Clifton, on charges of pointing fire arms, disorderly conduct and threatening to assault. Doppler told the police that while he was driving homeward he noticed that another automobile seemed to be following his car. He speeded up his machine, he said, and drove rapidly along Clifton avenue to Dyxsmith, McMicken, Hopple and then Riddle road, where, when he looked back to see where he still was followed, he lost control of the car and it hit a post, throwing him to the ground. In a moment, he told the police, his pursuer was upon him, armed with two revolvers. "You are under arrest," Doppler claims the man said. Thinking the man was a bandit, he said, "Take all my money but don't shoot me."

Then, Doppler relates, the man compelled him to straddle the radiator of his machine, and driving with one hand and "covering" him with the revolver in the other, the driver proceeded to Colerain avenue. There, Doppler told the police later, his captor said: "Get inside; I'll show you some fast driving." Doppler charges that the man drove about 50 miles an hour to the Tenth district police station, where he charged Doppler with reckless driving, and then alleging that Doppler had been drinking, insisted that he be taken to the general hospital for examination. This was done and it was found that Doppler had not been drinking. In fact, Doppler said, he has never taken a drink at any time.

About two hours later Dr. Zinke's car was found wrecked on Glenmary avenue, where it had cut a telephone pole in two. Later police were summoned to the Zinke apartments but were told that their services were not required.

Monday morning Zinke did not appear to prosecute Doppler and the record of the case was erased. Thereupon Doppler swore to the warrants against the physician. At the office of the physician it was said Monday that Dr. Zinke would not be there during the day. Neither could he be communicated with at his home.

ALLIED DEBTS TO GO INTO LONG TIME BONDS

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Feb. 9.—The bill creating a commission and otherwise providing for the conversion of the eleven billion dollar debt owed to the United States by the allied powers, was signed today by President Harding. The commission will consist of five members, headed by the Secretary of the Treasury. President Harding let it be known that he will appoint two other cabinet members and a member each from the House and Senate. The plan is to convert the debt into long time bonds.

SUSPECT FOUL WORK IN BURNING OF SHIP

(By Associated Press)
Newport News, Va., Feb. 9.—Survivors of the former's transport, Northern Pacific, burned at sea yesterday with a loss of four lives are not convinced the burning of the ship was wholly accidental. While Captain William Lusto would not make a formal statement, some members of the crew declared they suspected foul play. The survivors declare the ship was a roaring furnace inside when the fire was discovered. The crew were summoned and all took to the boats, except four employees of the shipbuilding company, whose quarters could not be reached owing to the flames.

SOFT COAL MINERS WORK HALF TIME

STANDARD SAYS IT IS CUTTING GAS PRICES

Mayor O'Neil's Letter Gets Quick Results From One Big Gasoline Producer

Mayor O'Neil appears to have accomplished something for the benefit of gasoline users of Richmond by his letters to the big oil companies. He received a reply from the Standard Oil Company that a cut is being made in the price of gasoline it sells here. The letter says:

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 7, 1922
Hon. Wm. O'Neil, Mayor,
Richmond, Kentucky
Dear Sir:—

Your letter of February 3rd in regard to price of gasoline has been received and noted.

We are very glad to be able to advise you that this question of price at Richmond was adjusted last week the new price going into effect Monday of this week. This adjustment in price has been made possible by new classifications in freight rates which go into effect April 1. We have, however, decided to give our customers the advantage of this new rate in advance, and this change puts Richmond on the same basis of price as Lexington, Paris, Winchester, Lancaster, Nicholasville, etc.

Heretofore freight rates on tankcar shipments from our Baton Rouge, Louisiana, refinery have cost us 1 1/2c per gallon more than to Lexington. On the new classification the Richmond rate from Baton Rouge will be the same as Lexington.

We are very glad to be able to make this change, and while the rate from Louisville to Richmond is still about one-half cent per gallon higher than to Lexington, we are going to give Richmond the benefit of the same price as Lexington.

Yours truly,
H. McGOODWIN, D. M.

Where Taxpayers' Money Goes

Uncle Jim Faulkner, the political prognosticator and prophet of the Cincinnati Enquirer, told in an illuminating way the other day what our Republican Administration is doing with some of the people's money. Listen to this from Monday's Enquirer:

Ever and anon the indignant taxpayer arises and demands to know of his Government "Where has the money gone?" And the Government replies, although not in the same language, "You can search me." Once every so often the taxpayer gets a peek, as for example, this week, when it was announced that the State Department of Health had gazetted new new-lecturer on "hygiene and protective social measures" at $3,000 a year. And who d'ye suppose was named? Some high-brow graduate with degrees and titles? Nothing doing! It was John C. Logan, a negro real estate dealer, of Columbus. John will pass around the hygiene and ladle out social protection as he circumambulates around Ohio.

And who do you suppose will draw a fine, fat and fly-high salary for traveling about the United States of America and "addressing women's clubs on the subject of stricter enforcement of the prohibition laws." Only Georgiana Hopley, of Bucyrus, former publicity agent for the Republican State Committee. Those are her duties as announced by Prohibition Commissioner Roy Harris and her title is Assistant Publicity Director. The salary will come out of the $10,000,000 chunk appropriated for enforcing the law. And it won't be small.

How many more jawsmiths are being paid for traipsing around the state and nation pulling off the Chautauqua stuff, perhaps never will be known, but it's a fine problem for the taxpayers to mull over these "unlucky" times.

Never Wants Anything Else
"I tried many different kinds of cough medicines," writes Mrs. E. K. Olson, 1917 Ohio Ave., Superior, Wis., "but I never want anything else than Foley's Honey and Tar. WILD SORGHUM 'TAKES' WESTERN KENTUCKY

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Feb. 9.—Farmers in the bottom lands of western Kentucky, who for many years have been troubled with weeds, are now facing a new and more serious difficulty in the form of a wild sorghum known as "chicken corn" or "wild cane" which is spreading in that section of the state and causing heavy reductions in the yield of corn, according to a report made by E. J. Kinney, agronomist at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, following a visit to the territory to investigate the situation and made recommendations for the control of the weed.

Growers in that section of the state estimate that the new weed is present and causing serious losses in 100,000 acres of western Kentucky bottom land, according to the report. While in the bottom lands of Henderson county it seems to be most abundant and in the bottom lands in Indiana adjoining, it extends into Union county, and possibly much farther, according to Mr. Kinney.

The wild sorghum grew so thickly in fields and parts of fields in western Kentucky during the past year that the corn yields were reduced from 20 to 30 per cent, farmers in that section stated in their reports to Mr. Kinney.

With the loss that it has caused during the past year, the wild sorghum is now the most serious phase of the weed problem which has always been an important one for western Kentucky farmers, according to Mr. Kinney.

Weeds thrive in the fertile bottom lands but because of the overflow from the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and the tributaries of these two, it is impossible to control the pests through rotation of crops, thorough preparation of seed beds and frequent cultivation. Because of this situation, farmers in that section of the state made a usual custom of planting corn each year, thus encouraging the establishment of various weed pests that are controlled easily by rotation of crops.

Farmers in the region where the pest is present have various theories as to the origin of the wild sorghum which grows a foot or more taller than other corn and has black heads. A popular theory is that the pest originated from a broomcorn factory in Evansville, Ind., which dumped the broomcorn seed in the Ohio river according to Mr. Kinney. This is hardly possible, however, he states, although some of the heads have brush resembling that of broomcorn.

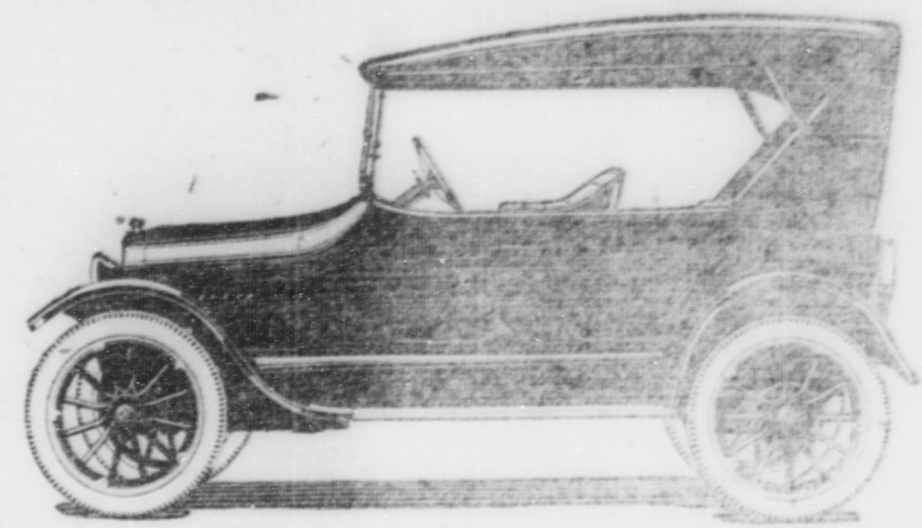

Since the seeds probably will not grow after they have been in the ground for more than a year, complete eradication of the new weed involves some practice to keep it from seeding with the new weed, farmers were advised to rotate crops whenever possible, to cut and burn the corn and sorghum stalks following the corn harvest, to disc their fields in order to cover the seed on the ground, to plow at least seven or eight inches deep and to plant their corn by the checking system rather than by the drilling method. Early cultivation and the use of corn knives and grass hooks in cutting off the sorghum heads before the seed ripened also were recommended.

Many European Noblewomen In Dire Financial Straits

(By Associated Press)

Geneva, Feb. 9.—As an indication in which many European noblewomen find themselves, three princesses, nine baronesses, and 30 countesses answered an advertisement of a Swiss banker's wife offering 300 francs monthly and a comfortable home for an educated woman secretary with good knowledge of languages. Most of the letters of the applicants related pathetic stories. Many said they wanted no salary—only comfortable homes.

Demand For Laundry Workers

(By Associated Press)

Louisville, Feb. 9.—When the household domestic walks out of a job it's a boom for the laundry worker, Pat Filburn, Assistant Federal Director of Employment and Labor explains that statement by saying that when housewives decide to do their own work, they don't mean they are going to wash clothes, too. The result is it was explained, that laundries are on a normal work basis again and are unable to obtain as much help as is required.

Many requests for laundry workers are on file in Mr. Filburn's office here. Another factor that contributes to the boom in the laundry business, the director said, is the cold weather. Many persons who are not accustomed to having their laundry work done at home, are reluctant to keep their hands in water all day when the thermometer is registering around the zero mark.

Demand for domestic help has fallen off 75 per cent in the last two weeks, according to Mr. Filburn, and the office is swamped with domestic applications.

DOCTOR ORDERED WOMAN OBEYED

Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and is Now Well

Chicago, Illinois.—"You surely gave women one good medicine when you put Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on the market. After I had my baby I was all run down and nervous. It kept me from gaining. My doctor did everything he could to build me up, then he ordered me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with his medicine and I am now a new woman. I have had three children and they are all Lydia E. Pinkham babies. I have recommended your medicine to several friends and they speak highly of it. You are certainly doing good work in this world."—Mrs. ADRIEN TOMSHECK, 10557 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

There is nothing very strange about the doctor directing Mrs. Tomsheck to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. There are many physicians who do recommend it and highly appreciate its value.

Women who are nervous, run down, and suffering from women's ailments should give this well-known root and herb medicine a trial. Mrs. Tomsheck's experience should guide you towards health.

IN THE MOVIES

Studies Real Types Before Playing Them

Lon Chaney, whose remarkable performance in "The Penalty" was followed by two more Goldwyn pictures, the last being "Age of Hearts," is a crank on make-up. This fact probably has had much to do with his fame as a character actor. Before deciding on the style of clothes, way of wearing his hair, etc., in "Age of Hearts," Chaney spent several days walking the streets of the Ghetto district, studying the many foreigners, studying the cast of features, length of hair, the carriage of the body. In fact everything that he could adapt to his characterization of "Harrone," the man he plays in the picture.

Three in One
Masquerading as an old woman who takes roomers, and also as the servant maid who waits upon them, Agatha Kent, the heroine of "A Heart to Let," which will show at local theatres Thursday, could only be herself when she was alone. The role gives Justine Johnston the star of "A Heart to Let," really three different impersonations, that of Agatha Kent, the poor young aristocrat, the old lady, "Miss Kent," and Norah, the maid. It is Miss Johnston's fourth Real-art release and offers unquestionably her best opportunity to act.

MADISON HI WINS FROM LEXINGTON

Both Madison Hi basketball teams revenged defeats at the hands of Lexington Model Hi suffered last year, when they easily defeated Lexington's boys and girls' Model teams here Wednesday night, the local girls winning by a score of 12 to 2, while the Madison boys captured by a 29 to 7 score.

Boys' Game

After a few rounds of play the Madison boys found themselves and ran away with the U. K. Model Hi. Passing featured in the wonderful playing of Madison. They led the attack at stages of the game and were easy victors. Many times the Madison team carried the ball from under the shadows of the Lexington goal to close shooting distance. Here the ball ended in the hands of Talton Stone and he handled it with the best of skill, scoring 23 of the 29 points made by Madison. He opened the game with a long shot and soon afterward pitched one from closer range. He showed much skill in shooting goals from all angles. He also dribbled nicely and eluded his guard with ease. Clouse was responsible for the rest of Madison's points. He made one shot from center that never touched the rim of the basket. It was indeed a pretty shot.

Good defensive work also featured in Madison's victory. The five man defense of the local worked to perfection. They broke up pass after pass of the Lexington team. Captain Hurst and Reeves at guards with Blevins at center, assisted by Clouse and Stone at forwards did fine work. The visitors from Lexington did not make a single field goal in the first half. This is the best proof of the work on defensive. Hurst broke up many passes and with his familiar left-handed shot returned the ball to Madison territory.

Lexington Model played it tough luck. They missed many shots at the start when they had their best chance to win. Reynolds scored all the points for the visitors. He was the man to make the two field goals against Madison. The rest were scored as the result of free throws. The Madison team has progressed rapidly under Coach Lassiter, who expects them to give a good account of themselves in sectional tourney at Winchester March 3 and 4. The line-up: Madison—T. Stone, (23) rf; Clouse, (6) lf; Blevins, c; Hurst, rg; Reeves, lg.

U. K. Model—Reynolds, (7) rf; Hopkins, lf; Leach, c; Warrent, rg; Triplett, lg.

Girls' Game

The Madison girls fared as well as the boys, but had some tough luck in goal shooting. It seemed at a certain stage in the first half that the ball would not go in the goal. Several easy shots were missed. The Madison girls showed a fine game on the defense and held the Lexington girls without a field goal during the contest. At the start of the game Miss Yates at center tipped the ball to Miss Bennett. She dribbled the ball close to the goal and shot. This gave the Madison girls a lead that was not overcome. Miss Bennett made two other goals during the game and played a fine game on the floor. Miss Yates scored four points for Madison with two long range field goals. Miss Blanton was responsible for the rest of the points with a field goal. Misses Myers and Terrill at guards held the Model attack in the palms of their hands. They did excellent guarding.

Just at the close of the third quarter a collision between Miss Blanton, of Madison, and Misses Hayman and Greyhouse, of Lexington, resulted in injury to the Lexington girls. In the fall Miss

GIRL CLUB MEMBERS PLEASED WITH WORK

County Agent Robert F. Spence of Berea, sends the Daily Register a letter from a Junior Agricultural Club member at Orlando for the benefit of other boys and girls of Madison county. It reads:

I am a Junior Agriculture Club member, raising pure bred Rhode Island Red chickens. We have raised these birds for four years and have no other kind on the farm. I have been a club member for two years, and have enlisted for this year. I have kept an accurate record during this time, keeping a daily record on eggs I get as follows:

January 1, 1920, we had on the farm 132 hens and pullets, on February 30, graded and sold 55, leaving 77. Our egg production during that year was 1175. We raised a nice bunch of pullets.

January 1, 1921, we had 105; sold in February 55, leaving 50 and producing 3793 eggs, selling lots of them for setting purposes. I raised last year the largest number at less expense than any club member reported in the county. I am glad to be a club member and raise nice birds as the Rhode Island Reds.

Dear girls, don't you want to join? If you do, write to our County Agent, Robt. F. Spence. He will be glad to tell you in every way possible. He will write some nice letters, send you bulletins that will give all the information necessary to care for your flock.

I find the task not so hard but pleasure and exercise and the best of all some real money in it. Write your County Agent for cards. Let's make 1922 the banner year. Yours very truly,

JESSIE JOHNSON

The quotations were of a nature to arouse opposition on religious grounds such as were set forth by William Jennings Bryan in his address.
